Implemented by GENDERDOC-M Information Centre (GDM), the project provides psychological assistance, legal counseling, and informational resources, fostering community resilience and activism.

Additionally, the project promotes awareness and education on Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity and Expression, and Sex Characteristics (SOGIESC) to improve understanding, reduce stigma, and foster acceptance of diverse identities. It also ensures that intersex individuals have access to specialized services tailored to their needs. Advocacy efforts focus on public awareness campaigns and engagement with state authorities, particularly in addressing bullying and discrimination faced by LGBTI+ youth in schools.
