Project website: www.eu4business.com/dcfta

Project description:

The project focuses on providing practical and useful information to both businesses and citizens of the Republic of Moldova about the opportunities available through the free trade agreement with the EU, how the challenges involved can be overcome and the financial and other support available from a wide range of sources.

The project works closely with a wide range of partners - including all relevant government ministries and agencies, local governments, business and sectoral associations, representatives of civil society, media and other donor-funded projects - to ensure their full participation in activities and straightforward, coherent communications about the agreement.

Expected results:

- A series of measures to promote awareness of the work of government agencies and others related to full implementation of AA/DCFTA and to counter media bias. A series of activities to encourage full implementation include.
- Improving website and developing social media accounts to disseminate factual, easy-to-understand information about implementation of AA/DCFTA in attractive formats to a wide audience.
- Creating an "online news bureau" to bypass media bias, producing factual and reliable news stories, articles and interviews about AA/DCFTA implementation, to monitor media and social media coverage and correct false claims.
- A high-visibility Opening Ceremony for the Project to publicise activities.
- Partnership and Co-operation Workshops to involve a wide circle of partners.
- An International networking conference and proposed study tour to share experience and learn from other's countries' activities in implementing and communicating AAs and DCFTAs.
- A full inventory of all programmes and projects involved in AA/DCFTA implementation to understand what is available.
- An opinion survey and in-depth qualitative research to determine information needs and the best communication channels to reach target groups.
- Simplifying and packaging information to make it relevant and easy-to-understand.
- Setting up a package of information and advice services through a "one-stop shop", including online services, bus tours
